FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 6, 1908.

WHEN the returns began pouring into Fairview Tuesday night and Mr. Bryan was asked for a statement, he simply said "I have nothing to say." He was simply struck speechless with the result and broken-hearted by disappointment. Mr. Bryan felt absolutely certain of his election.

RETURNS received make it certain that there will be a republican majority in the next congress. Reports from 355 congressional districts give the republicans 196 and the democrats 159. If a majority of the missing 39 were democratic the result would not be affected because 196, the number of republicans sure elected, is a majority over all.

Geo. L. Sheldon, as governor of Nebraska, met every demand made upon him for reform legislation, and as a reward was kicked out of office for doing just what the people demanded of him. His defeat is evidence that the majority of the people do not now want honest government nor a "square deal." The defeat of Governor Sheldon is the basest political ingratitude ever heaped upon a candidate.

Now that the next legislature will be democratic, will it stand up to the rack and meet the demands of the people? Will it pass a county option law that a majority of the people favor; will it have the backbone to continue to give the people of the state reasonable freight rates or will it, at the behest of the railroads, amend the present laws? Candidate Shallenberger was the preferred candidate of the railroad and the wishy element and thus being under obligations to them, will he dare turn them down?

Two years ago the republicans of Nebraska knocked the railroads out of politics; this year the railroads, through the democratic party, regained the prestige they lost two years ago. Will the fellows who made the fight for the people and against the railroads two years ago again take up the cudgel? Well, some of them will not. If the majority of the voters, as they expressed themselves in the Tuesday election, want the railroads to dominate Nebraska politics, dictate such legislation as they desire, and charge any old freight rate they please, certainly the minority will feel inclined to "lay down."

In speaking of the result in Douglas county, which gave Shallenberger a plurality of 1,148, the Bee says: The outcome is due in a great measure to a peculiar combination of the church and the saloon. The Elmer E. Thomas letter, attacking Governor Sheldon, was but a part of this. The cry had been raised against Judge Taft long before and was persistently agitated throughout the campaign. The specious plea for the uncontrolled saloon, veiled under the promise of "home rule," caught a good many other voters, and for once the church and the saloon were united against the republican party. Many good church people will regret that the champions of the saloon have won in this county, but it was through their votes that the result was brought to pass.
